Barry joined the company in September 2017 from Windham Professionals, a revenue cycle management firm, where she served as president and CEO, and as a member of the board of directors. Prior to that, Barry led an organization of 80,000 employees at Convergys, a global leader in customer experience outsourcing. With her extensive background in strategy and support operations, Barry will lead Endurance's expanding capabilities in the company's large support organization.

Simone joined the company in November 2017 from Verizon, where she served as vice president of the enterprise solutions division of Verizon Communications. Prior to Verizon's acquisition of Alltel in 2009, Simone was a member of Alltel's leadership team, responsible for its IT and Application Development and Maintenance group. Simone is tasked with leading the company's integrated planning process through operational alignment across the enterprise.

"Both Christine and Kim bring proven track records of success in their respective areas," said Jeffrey H. Fox, president and chief executive officer, Endurance International Group. "I am delighted to welcome them to the leadership team as we focus on our goals to create more value for our customers and to operate as a scale leader in the space."
